Chapter 1 by alexander2003

One day a cat came to the library and check out some books. He find a book and he read it. It was a nice book with many pictures and text. The next day he came again to the library an find more books. He read all and they was funny.

Chapter 2 by Mariella Sialer

Days ago, he heard some noises in the dark prohibited room, but he also saw, the nice librarian entrering the room quietly, empty handed, and getting out of there with a little car that pulled with care.

When he had finished all the books he could find in the shelves, he decided to ask to the librarian if they were more books to read.

The librarian was a nice young girl, with big glasses. She was always quiet, but you knew she was there cause she drag her shoes while walking.

Chapter 3 by intellikat

The cat asked politely if there were more books to read but the librarian just shrugged. She didn't want to speak to a cat. After all, cats usually got pawprints all over the binding of books, and left hair all around the place.

With that, the cat decided to leave the librarian with a memory of him. He clawed her face to tatters.
